

All RATIONAL products are developed and produced according to the highest quality criteria and tested for functionality, durability and safety. They therefore fulfil the highest quality standards for commercially used technical products.

RATIONAL always endeavours to give its customers confidence that they are obtaining optimum product quality with the purchase of a RATIONAL product. Therefore, in contrast to all other well-known competitors, RATIONAL will be providing an extended warranty period for all products manufactured and delivered after 28 September 2008.

The condition for an extension to the warranty from 1 to 2 years is that our customers register for the extended warranty in internet under www.rational-ag.com/warranty

For this a registration card with the corresponding internet address will be enclosed with all the brand new SelfCooking Center® gives an automatic alert to inform customers of the free warranty extension.

After the correct complete registration the customer is sent a warranty certificate by e-mail.

The warranty conditions remain as before.

In spite of a considerably increased benefit, prices remain unchanged for our customers!

